Date: Wednesday, April 01, 2020
Time: 6:00 PM
Subject: Engine Maintenance Run-ups

Dear VNY Tenants:

This is an unprecedented time as the aviation community deals with the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. As with the commercial carriers, general aviation is also experiencing a reduction in flights. With reduced flight operations, we expect an increase of aircraft maintenance activities and would like to remind all aircraft maintenance facilities, providers and support staff of the Van Nuys Noise Abatement and Curfew Regulation, City Ordinance #155727, specifically Section 5, which states:

“No person shall test or run-up an aircraft engine for maintenance purposes between the hours of 7:00 p.m. and 7:00 a.m. of the following day. Engine run-ups shall be conducted only in areas designated in writing by the General Manager.”

Thank you for complying with this important airport regulation, the Van Nuys Airport Operations team is available should you have any questions regarding this matter.
